Federal Tax Credits ... They're Back!

Here's some good news about saving money: The federal tax credits for high-efficiency equipment that expired in 2011 were extended through 2013 with the Fiscal Cliff bill – and made retroactive to 1/1/2012. That means that any qualifying purchases from 2012 can now be submitted for credits – and any 2013 purchases are eligible, too.

Manufacturers' and utility rebates and other financial incentives are also available for installation of qualifying comfort equipment – call or contact us for details.

Why Go Anywhere Else?

As your trusted energy provider since 1935, we've been giving Southside Virginia families the kind of service only a local, family-run business like ours can deliver: quality, value, respect, and total peace of mind – things you probably won't get from a large, impersonal, nationally-owned chain.

It's common sense to support a local business ... and it makes economic sense, too. When you spend your dollars at an independent local business, you keep more money in your hometown – supporting your community's social services, schools, public library and local non-profits. How so? Locally-owned businesses return about 80 percent of each dollar to the community. Chains and franchises, on the other hand, contribute roughly 40 percent of sales back to the community.

When it comes to the world-class products and services you want ... and the caring local touch you deserve, you can always count on Parker Oil Company. Why go anywhere else?
